Probationary Accreditation is granted to a college that has one or more major deficiencies that have more than minimal impact on student learning or safety. These deficiencies must be corrected in two years. College must submit reports to the Council every six months. If minor deficiencies are not corrected within one year, a college will be placed on Probationary Accreditation for one additional year. College must submit reports to the Council every six months.*

Based on evaluation of Annual interim report:

- Oklahoma State University Center for Veterinary Health Sciences
Continued on Probationary accreditation with major deficiencies (Standard 2, Finances, Standard 6, Students, Standard 8, Faculty) and minor deficiencies (Standard 3, Physical Facilities and Equipment, Standard 9, Curriculum, Standard 11, Outcomes Assessment)
- University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine
Probationary accreditation with minor deficiency in Standard 3, Physical Facilities and Equipment)

If a college granted Reasonable Assurance is making adequate progress in complying with the Standards, Provisional Accreditation may be granted to that college on the date that letters of acceptance (admission) are mailed to members of the initial class. When Provisional Accreditation is granted, interim reports are required at six-month intervals to monitor the program’s progress in complying with the Standards. In particular, changes in business or educational plans must be addressed in detail. Provisional Accreditation status may remain in effect no more than five years if the program complies with the necessary requirements. A program with Provisional Accreditation for five years or that does not provide continuing evidence that its program will comply with the Standards and its plan may be placed on Terminal Accreditation.

Continued Provisional Accreditation based on biannual report:

- Midwestern University College of Veterinary Medicine
